

Learning Express log-in for new users

Click on the “new user” button which takes you to the new user registration. Type in the first 13 letters, numbers on your library card – all of them, except for the last letter. You have the option of adding your email address – but remember if you forget your password, there is no other way to retrieve your password and you will not be able to access Learning Express.

Welcome to LearningExpress Library. If you are already a registered user, you do not need to register again.

To register, use the code your institution requires as your username. Some use special codes; others use identification numbers such as those on a library card, driver's license, or other documents. If you are unsure which to use, check with your institution. Your password must be a minimum of six characters and should not include spaces.

Enter your email so we can send you a new password if you forget yours. If you don't have an email account, you may set up a free one — just go to www.gmail.com.

Register:

Username: --Library card no. (drop the last letter)
